Intervention Blocked For Portugal Territories

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A Soviet veto early today killed a Western resolution calling for the withdrawal of invading Indian troops from Goa and the other two Portuguese territories on India's west coast.

Soviet delegate Valerian A. Zorin not only blocked any U.N. intervention on behalf of Portugal but joined three Asian and African members of the 11-nation Security Council in demanding that Portugal give up the three territories to India.

Victory Claimed By India

Say Resistance Will Continue; Fighting Ceases

BOMBAY, India (AP) — India today claimed complete victory in its lightning invasion of Portugal's three tiny territories on the Indian west coast.

Just 36 hours after Indian forces blitzed into the last footholds of European territory on the subcontinent, a Defense Ministry spokesman announced all fighting had ceased in Goa, Damao and Diu, three little Portuguese pockets totaling 1,537 square miles and about 650,000 people.

Goa's governor general, Manuel Antonio Vassala e Silva, in a balcony speech from his office Monday had said the Portuguese defenders "will resist to the end."

Portuguese troops along the invasion route had boxes of dynamite to blow up all bridges.

The Indian Defense Ministry announced Indian forces lost only eight killed, and a ministry spokesman said he believed Portuguese casualties were also light. He said more than 1,000 Portuguese troops had surrendered.

A report from Belgium, the Indian command center just outside Goa, said the Indian commander, Lt. Gen. J. N. Chaudhury, hoisted the Indian flag in Nova Goa, the Portuguese colonial capital, about 9 a.m.

Dog Freed From Mine Shaft Trap

GILBERT, W.Va. (AP)—Brownie, a 3-year-old rabbit hound with a master who cares, settled down today to replacing the 25 pounds he lost during 50 days entrapment in a caved-in mine shaft.

A bulldozer late Monday uncovered a hole leading into the shaft into which the dog disappeared almost two months ago.

Brownie, with protruding ribs and eyes bleary in the daylight he hadn't seen for so long, clambered into the arms of equally bleary-eyed Richard Hatfield, 21, his master.

Until a week ago, Richard's struggle to free his trapped pet had been a lonely and seemingly hopeless one. But as word spread, his neighbors made it a community project.

Richard had tried lassoing Brownie through a narrow crevice; he had tried luring him into a sack; but nothing worked.

For 18 days after Brownie disappeared while on a hunting trip with Richard he was thought dead. But whatever the dog chased into that narrow slit—probably a rabbit—seemed to have provided him with enough food to keep him going for a while.

The Highway Patrol said the Thompson and Warren cars collided head-on and two other cars spun into the wreckage.

President Returns To Washington

Inclement Weather Forces Landing At National Airport

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy returned today from a Latin American trip extended by a day's stay in Palm Beach, Fla., to rest and fight a cold.

Nasty weather greeted the President in Washington, forcing his Air Force jet plane to switch its landing plans from Andrews Air Force Base, where such big craft can be set down comfortably, to the Washington National Airport. Jet landings at National are considered safe, though more difficult, but are usually barred because of noise.

The presidential plane landed at 11:12 a.m. EST and arrangements were made for Kennedy to go by automobile to the White House.

Visibility at Andrews was down to 300 feet when the decision was made to undertake the unusual, but not unprecedented, jet landing at National Airport.

Kennedy said he felt fine as he boarded the plane at the Palm Beach airport.

His condition was reported much improved after medication and rest in bed and sun, said Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary.

On the President's business calendar was a 4 p.m. meeting with the National Security Council at the White House.

Despite his discomfort, Kennedy expects to hold a news conference in Washington Wednesday and to go to Bermuda Thursday for talks with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Gas Fumes Are Fatal To Coffeyville Man

COFFEYVILLE, Kan. (AP) — A 71-year-old Coffeyville man, Monroe Williams, who was overcome by gas fumes at his home, died today in Coffeyville Memorial Hospital.

A neighbor who found Williams unconscious in bed last Thursday said the house was filled with fumes from a gas stove. Investigators said the stove was out of adjustment and the vent almost completely choked with soot.

Fast Acting Airmen Save KC-97 Tanker As Fire Breaks Out

Fast action by three airmen at Whiteman Air Force Base Monday prevented possible extensive fire damage to a KC-97 tanker aircraft on which they were working.

A heating unit in the tail section of the aircraft had been reported as malfunctioning in flight. A-2c Laverne F. DeSplinter and A-3c David E. Murrow were checking the electrical system for needed maintenance when an overflow of fuel contacted excessive heat in the unit and began scorching the paint on the exterior of the aircraft.

A-1c Louis S. Wilson of the Air Refueling Squadron saw smoke emitting from the parked aircraft. He alerted the two maintenance men and all three obtained fire extinguishing Carbon Tetrachloride from the aircraft and controlled the fire until apparatus arrived.

Colonel Willis F. Lewis, commander of the 340th Bomb Wing said at the scene of the incident that damage was negligible and was confined to a small amount of scorched paint.

Councilmen Adopt City Ordinance for Primary

By D. KELLY SCRUTON

Sedalia will hold its third city primary on March 6, in accordance with a City Ordinance which was passed by the City Council, Monday night, during its regular meeting. The ordinance was voted six to one favoring the election. The ordinance calls for the deadline on candidates filing for the primary election to be at 5 p.m., Feb. 6. Prospective candidates can now file with the City Clerk up to deadline time.

The ordinance was read two times, after which some discussion came, and then read for the third time after which the vote on the final passage was to be made.

The original ordinance called for two judges from each party and two clerks from each party for each precinct in the four precincts of each of the four wards.

Councilman R. N. Snively immediately took issue with the two judge system and said he felt if an election was to be held it should call for three judges from each party in each precinct, not two. He pointed out that in the discussions of the election there would be many more candidates seeking office from each party than in the general election and would cause more work to fall upon the judges of election.

Snively then moved the original ordinance to be amended to read three judges instead of two. Councilman Raymond Roberts of the Fourth Ward seconded the amendment motion and it was unanimously adopted.

Prior to the amendment being adopted, Councilman Roberts had stated that he felt there should be as many judges as the regular election. "If you want to save money, I would suggest you go back to the caucus meetings," Roberts remarked.

Roberts pointed out that at the last City primary election hardly 2,500 people voted and the election cost approximately $2,200. "That's rather expensive for votes."

Mayor Abe Silverman then remarked, "I hope you young people (referring to about 25 students from Smith-Cotton high school)

Cars Destined For Sedalia Go To Salina, Kan.

SALINA, Kan. (AP)—Jim Carlin sales manager for a Salina automobile dealer, was surprised when a truckload of five news cars pulled up from Kansas City.

He was even more surprised when it began unloading. His firm did not have any new cars on order.

Then Carlin looked at the invoice slip, and it was the truck driver's turned to be surprised.

He was supposed to have driven to Sedalia, Mo., not Salina, Kan. "He just shook his head."

Carlin bought one of the cars. The truck driver reloaded the other four and headed back to Kansas City for Sedalia, 400 miles the other way.

understand what we are talking about. You should take it upon yourselves to get your parents out to vote in not only this but all elections. That's a privilege we have in this country, and it is highly abused. The election costs the city slightly more than 38-cents a vote."

Councilman Lawrence Koeller told the Council there will be more offices to be voted upon this election than in the last election. "This alone should bring out more voters, and will cut the cost of the election down per vote."

Roberts then remarked he had fought in four elections, two primaries and two general, before he was elected. "I expect I am still in the hole on my campaigns for what I received as Councilman," Roberts said.

Tshombe to UN Base

Open New Talks To End Secession

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — President Moise Tshombe of Katanga and Premier Crille Adoula of the central Congo government flew to the U.N. base at Kitona today for new talks on ending the secession of Tshombe's rich province.

Tshombe left Ndola, Northern Rhodesia, with U.S. Ambassador Edmund A. Gullion. Adoula flew from Leopoldville, accompanied by a team of his ministers and U.N. Undersecretary Ralph Bunche.

U.S. officials did not have much confidence that a reconciliation would result.

U.N. officials said the talks would be secret and Bunche, other U.N. aides and Gullion would sit in only if the Congolese asked them to. A U.S. diplomatic source insisted Gullion is not trying to act as mediator but is only "facilitating" the talks.

U.N. troops were reported in control of Elisabethville, Tshombe's capital, and the defenders who had battled with U.N. troops there since Dec. 5 appeared to have melted away into the countryside. The Katangans and their white officers were reported planning guerrilla resistance in the bush.

A U.N. spokesman in New York announced that Acting Secretary-General U Thant had ordered a cease-fire throughout Katanga for the duration of the talks between Tshombe and Adoula but that U.N. troops would shoot back if attacked.

Most diplomats in Leopoldville had little hope of a lasting agreement between Tshombe and Adoula. They said the two hold unalterably opposed positions and speculated that Tshombe might decide to continue his resistance to the central Congo government from exile abroad.

The Katangan leader has de-

Councilman George Bryant then took the floor and said, "I don't believe any of us are up here for the money—$100 a month. I feel the primary is a better way to choose our candidates for a free government, not the caucus, and let a select few select our candidates."

"You or I or several other faces would not be here if we had to be chosen through caucus meetings. As to the costs, I expect everyone of us are in the hole on the money, considering the expense, the time we have to spend doing our duty as Council members. The primary election, I feel," Bryant said, "is being fair to everybody, especially to both parties."

manded local autonomy for his province, the Congo's richest because of its foreign-operated mines. The Leopoldville government, running deep in the red, is in dire need of this financial support, and Adoula has shown no weakening in his stand to downgrade Tshombe to the relatively minor role of a provincial president within a united Congo.

Real Life Type Santa For Florida

PUNTA GORDA, Florida (AP) — For little girls and boys in this southwest Florida town, Ralph Waldo Bailey is a real Santa Claus—even without a red cap and reindeer.

With his full, snow-white beard, apple cheeks and twinkling eyes, Bailey attracts more attention from adults than children most of the year.

But as Christmas approaches Santa Claus-conscious youngsters are quick to identify him as a real St. Nick although he never wears a costume.

"The little ones stop me everywhere I go now to tell me what they want for Christmas," says Bailey, 72.

He listens attentively, pats them on the head and smiles, leaving them happy and certain that their requests have been delivered to the proper party.

Bailey once owned a herd of 300 goats—no reindeer—but sold them eight years ago and began building a community of homes for sale or rent on the outskirts of town.

He grew the beard as a joke nine years ago—to startle his son's bride when they visited him. Bailey liked it so much that he has worn it ever since.

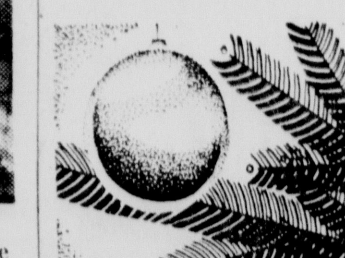

"Whiskers keep me warm in winter—and, surprisingly, are cool in summer," he said.

Sukarno Accuses Dutch Of Cheating Indonesia

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — President Sukarno declared today that he has ordered the Indonesian armed forces to be prepared to invade Dutch-held West New Guinea at any time. He also ordered "total mobilization of the Indonesian people."

The spellbinding Indonesian president did not indicate when the invasion would come. Officials in the West fear he may be emboldened by Indian Prime Minister Nehru's easy success against Goa and the other two Portuguese enclaves Indian troops captured today after less than 36 hours of fighting.

Sukarno accused the Dutch of "cheating Indonesia on West Irian," the name by which Indonesia refers to the big island, and ordered his people to smash efforts by the Netherlands to lead West New Guinea down the road of self-determination.

"I order you to wreck the Dutch efforts to set up a Papua puppet state and to hoist the red and white (Indonesian) flag in West Irian," Sukarno told a wildly cheering crowd estimated at one million, in a speech that was broadcast nationally.

"I order total mobilization of the Indonesian people to liberate West Irian from the grip of the Dutch," he said.

The Dutch-administered western half of New Guinea, the world's second-biggest island, changed its name to West Papua Dec. 1. The name stemmed from the 700,000 Papua tribesmen who inhabit the area.

The change was suggested by the 28-member New Guinea Council, a joint Dutch-Papuan governing council which Indonesia has labeled a puppet government.

About 18,000 Dutch and Eurasians also reside in the western part of the island, a primitive area of hostile jungles and rugged mountains. Australia governs the eastern half of the island. So far the Indonesians have made no claim to it.

"The Dutch promised to recognize Indonesian sovereignty over the whole territory of the former Netherlands East Indies but they only cheated us," Sukarno asserted, referring to the 1949 grant of independence to Indonesia.

Policemen Prepare For Yule Party

Since preparations for the Annual Children's Christmas Party got under way Sunday, members of the Sedalia Police Department have been busy putting up and decorating the tree, and setting up tables for use in serving about 4,000 children who annually visit Santa Claus at the police station.

The party will be held at the police station Saturday, beginning at 10 a.m. and ending at 4 p.m. All children under 12 years of age who visit the station will receive from Santa a bag of candy, and probably some type of fruit or nuts.

This is the week that the police station is legally "lit up." The officers installed the tree during the weekend and after placing dozens of vari-colored lights and other seasonal decorations, the officers sprayed the entire display with snow and turned the lights on.

Monday and Tuesday officers were busy installing the tables and putting up other decorations.

The big job is to come, Friday night, at the Zero Market, Main and Ohio, police and volunteers will sack up candy and other gifts for the children. Each year the group fills about 4,500 sacks. This year officers have asked for volunteers to help in this job. Anyone wishing to volunteer a couple of hours of his time should go to the market. Work will begin at 7 p.m.

The Christmas Party for children in this area was initiated several years ago, and is usually held on the last Saturday before Christmas. It happens that the last Saturday this year is the last shopping day before Christmas. The party is given to acquaint children with the police officers, who will be on hand to help Santa, and to give them some special reason for visiting in Sedalia.

The party is made possible through donations from individuals and businessmen, and also through donations of a percentage of the proceeds from the annual policemen's ball.

Georgia Tension Lessened

Postpone Trials Of 700 Jailed In Demonstrations

ALBANY, Ga. (AP) — A bi-racial agreement has led to an easing of racial tension in this south Georgia city, but a Negro leader says desegregation efforts will continue.

Talks between city officials and Negro leaders Monday resulted in indefinite postponement of trials for more than 700 Negroes arrested last week in a series of marching demonstrations.

Under the agreement, Negro leaders said they would stop the mass demonstrations. But M. S. Page, acting chairman of the Albany movement, said negotiations are to reopen next month on a broad desegregation program.

Page said his group conceded only on the demonstrations and that an economic boycott, already being felt by white merchants, was not discussed.

After the agreement was reached, many of the nearly 400 Negroes still in jail began posting cash bonds or, in the cases of property owners or taxpayers, gaining release on their own signatures.

One of the points of the agreement was police compliance with Interstate Commerce Commission's order banning segregation in train and bus terminals. Last week's demonstrations started after a group of 11 Negroes and white persons were arrested following their attempt to desegregate the railway terminal.

Bonds for the "Freedom Riders," originally ranging from $750 to $1,000, were cut to $200 for three Albany Negroes and $400 for the others.

Contributions Lag At Welfare Office

Donations for the County Welfare office to provide for needy families this Christmas is the lowest in years, according to Roseanne Dugan Johns, welfare director.

Mrs. Johns told The Democrat-Capital that many families needing assistance desperately would have little if any aid unless contributions start coming in.

She added that the cost of Christmas baskets are considerably higher this year and contributions are not going as far as they have in previous years, and the lag in donations is compounding the situation.

The Welfare office is located at 605 South Massachusetts.

Hunting, Fishing Licenses On Sale

Missouri hunting and fishing licenses for 1962 will go on sale at the office of the Pettis County Clerk Dec. 20. County Clerk Jim Green said today. The licenses will not be in effect until January 1, however.

The County Clerk's office has received a shipment of the booklet, "Wildlife Code of Missouri," for 1962, which will be issued with each license purchased. Licenses will cost the same as in 1961—resident fishing license, $3.25, resident hunting license, $3.25, or resident hunting and fishing license combined, $6.25.

City Council

Roberts defended the caucus procedure and said a person had the right to nominate anyone from the floor.

Mayor Silverman remarked there were over 10,000 registered voters in Sedalia, and only about 3,000 voted. Then referring to the costs said, "Anything that's good costs money. I admit a primary isn't the cheapest way to pick candidates but it is at least the fairest."

Bryant then referring to 3,000 voters, said he wanted to know where that many people would be put if they all actually attended caucus meetings.

Snively then put his motion to amend the ordinance, Roberts seconded it, and Mayor Silverman then called for a vote. Bryant voted no on the amendment, but carried six to one. Councilman E. Glenn Lewis was not present due to being injured in an accident Monday afternoon.

Mayor Silverman then called for a roll call vote on the ordinance and it was six to one, with Councilmen Robert Bader, E. B. Smith, R. N. Snively, George Bryant, Lawrence Koeller and Jack Cunningham voting in favor of it and Roberts voting no.

The ordinance designated a $5 filing fee for all candidates running for office except the committee men and women on both the Democratic and Republican parties, who seek election. It designated the following offices up for election: Mayor, Chief of Police, City Collector, City Magistrate, City Attorney, City Assessor and City Treasurer, and one Councilman from each ward.

In Other Council Business

American Problems Student Compliments City Council

Sedalia's City Council received a compliment on its business like manner of running things from a student in the American Problems class of Smith-Cotton High School, Monday night, after the regular routine business had been transacted and the Mayor asked if anyone in the audience cared to say anything, the student put up his hand just as the Mayor prepared to adjourn, but he saw the hand in time.

The youth said, looking behind Councilmen E. B. Smith and George Bryant, "I wonder why the Council doesn't have a waste basket?" then pointed to a couple of papers tossed on the floor.

Continuing he said, we noticed a change in the business carried on in the Council the past few meetings, it's for the better and we like it." Then he sat down.

Mayor Abe Silverman, was taken back a second, then he replied, "We appreciate your remarks and thank you. We hope that you will come back again."

The Mayor asked the youths name and at first he said, "That's O.K.", then replied, "Jim Jacks, Route 3." The Mayor queried him: "Is that your name?" And the boy said, "Yes sir."

The Council took several actions which finally resulted in the asking for bids on a new police car, after two bids had been rejected because only two were there when four had been requested by the police committee.

Councilman Bryant, chairman of the police committee, asked bids be opened on the car to replace the present Ford Falcon station wagon used as a radar car. It was then the two bids were opened. One was from the Bryant Motor Co., on a 1962 Dodge Dart for $1,280 for a six cylinder and $116 more for an eight cylinder including the trade-in. The other bid was from the W. A. Smith Motor Co., on a 1962 Ford Fairlane for $820 for a six cylinder car and $898 for a V-8. Bids from two other dealers had not been received, according to Bryant.

Councilman Raymond Roberts asked, if the proper proceeding should not be that the Committee first ask the Council's permission to seek bids, instead of just going out and getting bids then bringing them up. Mayor Silverman replied "primarily yes," and continued, "actually it is up to the Council to pass on them eventually, but I believe in this case the Committee considered it an emergency."

Councilman Bryant explained it was an emergency as the Falcon broke down and it would take $150 to fix it up.

Councilman Jack Cunningham moved the matter be tabled. Bryant asked if the Council would approve the expenditure of $100 to $150 for the repair work. "We need a car over the holidays and if you don't act on the bids, then we'll have to get it repaired."

A motion to repair the car was passed.

Before the meeting ended, Bryant asked if the Council would approve the Committee asking for at least three bids on an automobile again. On a motion, the Council agreed.

The Council failed to agree on changing the size of the traffic signals at Broadway and Grand. The recommendation to install the 12-inch red light lens at the four corners for the eight-inch lens was made by the City Engineer. It was pointed out the switch might be of some help in cutting down accidents at this controlled intersection.

On a roll call vote it was four favoring and three opposing the switch at this time. Councilmen Robert Bader, Smith, Bryant and Roberts voted yes, with Cunningham, Koeller and Snively voting no. For lack of a majority of the elected Council of eight, the motion failed to carry. Mayor Silverman did not vote to break the so-called tie.

The Council approved a 25,000 luminous street light on Sunset Drive.

Councilman Roberts under sewer and sanitation reported the six sewer manholes which were built to take samples for laboratory tests have been completed. Roberts presented a petition from residents in an area between 25th and 26th streets and Washington to Massachusetts for a sewer lateral down the alley. The petition was accepted and approved.

Councilman Bader registered a complaint before the Council on the sidewalk west of Prospect north across the railroad tracks and along the Adco plant had been blocked by railroad cars and semi-trailers causing people to have to walk out to the middle of the street. He said in the area there was a bad place in the street where water stands and persons had to walk through this.

Mayor Silverman referred the matter to the Street and Alley Committee, to find a solution and to take it up with the police department if necessary.

Councilman Smith called attention to the recent bill presented by the City from Burns and McDonnell Engineering firm for $4,080.94 and ask the Council to honor it, with the provision that it be checked in accordance with the City's contract with the firm. The bill was approved with the stipulation.

Smith explained he wanted to know just how much the City has already paid the firm, and to ascertain if the bill is more than what the contract calls for and to make necessary adjustments.

City Engineer R. W. Cunningham informed the Council he had completed plans and specifications for two bridges on the new Industrial Drive between Broadway and Main street, and were ready for bids to be taken. The Council voted to have bids to be taken on both projects to be opened at the next meeting of the Council Jan. 2, 1962.

City Counsellor Jack McCloskey informed the Council final decrees have been made clearing title on property formerly known as Center Park, which is up for purchase by the Pettis County Post No. 16, American Legion.

Councilman Bryant called attention of the Street and Alley Department and the Sewer and Sanitation Department of a situation at Fourth and Massachusetts where water stands 14-inches deep around a sanitary street sewer. Engineer Cunningham reported the Street and Alley Department had cleaned this up, but Sewer and Sanitation was planning to replace a broken pipe as soon as weather conditions permitted.

Councilman Cunningham asked the news media to inform the public that all sidewalks in the City must be cleared of snow. He especially called attention to several walks in the downtown district. There is an ordinance requiring removal of snow from walks.

Cunningham also requested information on an old house at 20th and Monticau which needed to be torn down. Councilman Roberts reported the neighbors are preparing a petition to be presented to the Council for it to act upon to have the property condemned.

Councilman Koeller at the close of the meeting took the floor and said, "If there is no other business, I wish to take this opportunity to express to all those present in this room and all City employees a Merry Christmas."

City Department bills approved were: Police Department $440.32; Airport $41.78; Public Buildings $625.51; Sanitation $1,105.78; Fire $1,655.97; Streets and Alleys $110.11; General and Administrative $1,858.55; Civil Defense $90.40; Parking and Traffic $87.75. A total of $4,527.17.

Accidents

No injuries were received in a two-car crash in the 100 block on South Missouri at 11:20 a.m. Monday.

Involved were a 1946 Chevrolet, being backed out of a driveway by William Hodges, Route 4, and a 1957 Chevrolet station wagon, driven east on Missouri by George W. Walters, 409 North Summit.

The right rear fender of the station wagon was damaged. The other car sustained no damage.

Both drivers escaped injuries in the collision of a car and a pickup truck on a county road five miles southeast of Sedalia at 8:45 a.m. Tuesday morning.

Involved, according to the Highway Patrol report, were a 1959 Chevrolet, driven north by Earl Kenneth Davis, 35, Route 2, and a 1960 Ford pickup, driven west by Lois Maxine Caton, 31, Route 2. The front of the Davis machine struck the left rear of the pickup as Mrs. Caton pulled from a drive and turned north on to the road, the patrol stated.

The car was extensively damaged while there were only minor damages to the truck. Sgt. E. W. Van Winkle investigated the mishap for the Highway Patrol.

DAR Yuletide Luncheon Held Here On Saturday

The Rev. Leonard Reifel, pastor of the Federated Congregational-Presbyterian Church, presented the Christmas message at the annual yuletide luncheon of Osage Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, on Saturday, Dec. 16, at the Bothwell Hotel.

Miss Marion Keens, vice-regent, and program chairman, introduced Rev. Reifel, who spoke on "Christmas Thoughts." He told how Christmas began. The Romans had a holiday, he said, that lasted for a week, beginning the 19th of December. Originally, it was a religious festival; it was centered around the sun and the seasons, and the planting of wheat. Gradually it degenerated and its religious meaning slipped more and more into the background, until it became a week of rioting and merriment, feasting and present giving.

Soviet Cities Would Be Spared in a War

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Defense Department spokesman has declined to comment on a published report that the Kennedy administration has switched to a strategy designed to spare Soviet cities in case of nuclear war.

The Washington Star in a copy-right story Sunday said such a change has been made in U.S. planning. The decision to avoid killing millions of civilians, the story said, is an effort to deter an enemy from killing millions of Americans.

LUGGAGE — BASEMENT

Heart of the Problem

Throughout America, communities weighted down with rising welfare burdens are searching for better answers to their problems.

Many perked up last summer when the modest-size city of Newburgh, N. Y., came up with a controversial code aimed at eliminating welfare abuses and reducing the total load materially.

The Newburgh code is largely inoperative today, having been enjoined by a New York state court acting on the urging of state welfare authorities. But that has not prevented it from becoming one of the most widely discussed public matters of 1961.

This commotion has now led the National Association of Social Workers, representing 30,000 professionals around the nation, to issue a critical fact sheet and answer negatively the question: "Will the Newburgh Plan Work in Your City?"

The NASW's review of the Newburgh code is detailed, but in essence it characterizes the main provisions as harsh, punitive and inhumane.

Those provisions would put certain money and time limits on receipt of some kinds of welfare aid, would seek to discourage new applicants, would constantly recheck welfare clients and demand that able-bodied recipients take any proffered work.

The social workers' organization charges flatly that this code puts disproportionate stress on "chiselers," tries to invade the field of morals, and offers nothing constructive toward the lasting rehabilitation of individuals and families on relief.

In more generalized language, Secretary Abraham Ribicoff of the Health, Education and Welfare Department said much the same thing of the Newburgh plan as he unveiled the federal government's own overhauling of welfare procedures.

Ribicoff's program has goals similar to Newburgh's — the wiping out of fraud and other abuses, the encouragement of people to get off relief rolls and find gainful support. His criticism of the Newburgh code goes to its methods — which he calls wrong.

Yet Ribicoff, while insisting his own program was born first, said the stir over Newburgh may have had salutary effect in bringing wider public attention to a general problem of mounting urgency.

NASW's fact sheet seems to substantiate this notion, since its publication comes in response to a broad show of city and citizen interest in the issues Newburgh dramatized.

Perhaps the sensible net of it all is this:

In devising wiser, more modern and more efficient approaches to a welfare problem whose cost threatens to get out of hand, the emphasis needs to be not on punishing relief clients but on helping them rebuild so they can find a more useful place in our society.

The World Today

Latin America: Reform Or Perish

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Reform or perish.

This is what President Kennedy has told Latin America—where the rich stay rich and the poor stay miserable.

It's about the same thing he told the reactionary government of South Viet Nam whose only hope of saving the country from communism is American help.

This policy of linking American aid to reform is a tough one but long overdue. One main idea is implicit in it for any backward country where the gap between rich and poor is wide.

Unless—through reforms in taxes, land redistribution and other things—the impoverished masses are given a share in the society and therefore a reason to preserve it, the door is open to revolution.

Just how tough Kennedy really intends to be remains to be seen. No one can pass judgment on him now. He is just starting. Some of the answers should be available before his term is up.

He is going down a road, trying to undo the damage of centuries, where the results won't be apparent in a hurry.

His Alliance for Progress program for Latin America is a 10-year one with an estimated cost of $20 billion, a major share coming from the United States.

He has made several major talks about it, particularly on March 13 when he outlined his 10-point program; the next day in a message to Congress; and last Sunday on his visit to Bogota, Colombia.

The keystone in this program is cooperation by the Latin American countries and self-help in trying to improve themselves.

In his message to Congress he gave some figures on Latin American conditions: life expectancy, 46 years, compared with 70 in this country; almost half of all Latin American adults can't read; approximately 50 per cent of all children have no schools to attend; in one country 80 per cent of the population lives in makeshift shacks and barracks.

He said: "Poverty, illiteracy, hopelessness and a sense of injustice — the conditions which breed political and social unrest—"

Far From Earth, Reds Are In Orbit On Space Talk

By PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — Soviet Russia's agreement to take part in consultations on international control and development of the peaceful uses of outer space is one of the most hopeful events in this year's frustrating United Nations General Assembly.

The important point is that the Russians have for two years prevented any meetings of the U.N. Committee on Outer Space by demanding veto rights.

But this committee has now been expanded from 24 to 28 members by addition of Chad, Morocco, Mongolia and Sierra Leone. They obviously know little and have small futures in outer space, but so do most of the others.

Anyway, they have now unanimously agreed to begin meetings next March, recognizing that there can be no real disarmament until there is international control of outer space as well as of nuclear testing.

The hopeful sign here is that willingness to cooperate in outer space has now been coupled with Russian agreement to take part in furthering talks before a new, 18-nation disarmament commission. It will replace the 10-nation Geneva conference the Russians walked out on in June, 1960.

The Russians may have a selfish security interest in this new attitude. The development of observation satellites orbiting the earth every 90 minutes to spy and report on what goes on below may in time make preparations more difficult for any country planning surprise aggressive attack.

Still more important than this, the development of orbiting satellites loaded with nuclear weapons that could be released on radio command and guided from the earth to attack any designated target threatens every country's security.

The only way this can be prevented is international agreement not to militarize outer space. But the problems of inspection and control are obviously more difficult than on the earth's surface, underground or in submarines.

So far, neither the United States nor Soviet Russia has made any charges that its sovereignty has been invaded by the overhead passage of satellites in orbit.

There are now 31 American satellites in orbit. Ten are transmitting information back to earth. Russia has only one satellite in earth orbit and it is silent.

Some of the U. S. satellites have been used for weather observation and forecasting. The science is not far enough advanced to spot missile launching sites, but that's coming. And from the Russian point of view, a spy is a spy, no matter how high he flies.

An interesting case is being argued experimentally by space lawyers that Gary Powers in the U-2 was no more potentially dangerous as a spy than Russian Yuri Gagarin, making the first space flight around the earth in the Vostok.

The question to be determined is where free outer space begins, if national sovereignty doesn't extend to infinity.

What is proposed for United Nations consideration is recognition that international law, including the U.N. charter, extend to outer space. The first step toward control would be agreement to report all space vehicle launchings for their registration by the U. N. secretary-general.

After this might come agreement for international cooperation in exploration of outer space, weather observation and development of communication systems by satellite relay. The International Telecommunications Union has already called a 1963 conference to allocate space radio channels.

Other problems to come up later include the creation of a mutual insurance fund for payment of damages from satellite crashes and safeguards against outer space contamination.

Also, there must be a determination that the moon, planets and other heavenly bodies that may be explored are — like the high seas under international law today — open to peaceful use by all without regard for national claims.

A precedent for this already exists in the Antarctic Treaty which demilitarizes the south polar continent and makes it open for exploration by all countries. In September, 1960, President Eisenhower, addressing the U. N., suggested that the Antarctic principle be extended to outer space.

We, the Women

Please, Ma'am, a Hairdo Becoming to All of Us

By RUTH MILLETT

Plea to America's First Lady:

Couldn't you please, ma'am, get a new hairdo? Not that the one you are wearing now isn't becoming. On you it looks good.

But on 99 out of every 100 girls and women in the country who are trying to wear it, too, just because you are setting the fashions these days, it looks simply awful.

Of his children to seize on the opportunities with which he'd presented them.

Perhaps those who discount the value of the house call may argue that these facts would come out in the history. Maybe yes. But, again, maybe no.

Many sensitive persons are too proud to complain. Others are ashamed to admit the presence of an alcoholic in the household, or that of a "mental patient."

And, even if they did tell their story, it couldn't possibly have the value of what is seen and heard by an intelligent and kindly observer who takes the trouble to look and listen in the natural habitat.

Or so it seems to me.

But that's just part of the story. The worst part is that with your hairdo you can only wear one type of hat—the high pillbox.

On you, even that is becoming. But what it does to Miss and Mrs. America is a crying shame.

It makes most of them look like Mrs. Happy Hooligan — and yet it's hard to find a hat these days that isn't shaped like Happy Hooligan's tin can.

So even the women who have good sense not to copy your hair style are wearing the kind of hat designed to go with it.

What we need, please ma'am, is for you to adopt a hair style that is more universally becoming and one that lends itself to a wide variety of hat styles — not just one.

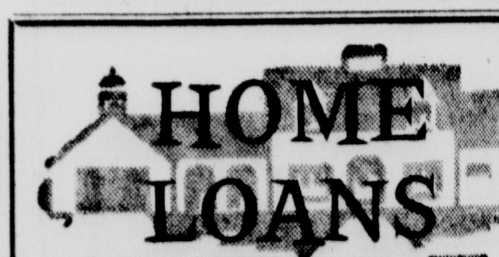

It looks as though what you wear is going to be "what everyone is wearing." That's what comes of having a beauty in the White House.

And since that seems to be so—can't you make it a bit easier on the American woman?

Right now she looks pretty ridiculous with that bushy bob and that tall pillbox perched on the back of her head.

Degenerate Earth Saddens God

EDITOR'S NOTE—The Christmas story unfolded on earth—and in Heaven. Naturally enough, the parts which occurred on earth have become dominant in Christian literature — because there were human witnesses to the birth and life of Christ. But Christian theology emphasizes that the events in this world were the fruition of a Divine decision which transcended both earth and time. This is the first of four articles dealing with the great Christmas drama from a bold, new viewpoint: as seen OT from earth, but FROM HEAVEN. The narrative draws on the allegory and metaphors which often are the language of Scripture. Although in language of conjecture, it is based on Biblical allusions; the words and attitudes are those attributed to the Divinity by the prophets.

By GEORGE CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

IT IS a splendid realm. No borders confine it. No night falls there, and the silence sings. The far away is near, and a static, nothing wears out, nothing is divided. All is growth and life and love.

It is, to human eyes, an invisible empire. It is the first and the last, the source of every reality, the spirit-kingdom of God. And He was grieved.

"My people know Me not, they have no understanding."

Before Him, around Him and from Him coursed the myriad hosts of the Elohim, the ethereal beings of that infinite sphere, angels, archangels, watchers and couriers of light.

In numberless thousands times ten thousands, they shared that luminous zone, overarching time and space, within yet beyond the heavens where the birds fly of the stars swing, the "heaven of heavens."

"Holy, holy, holy . . ."

The devoted harmonies poured continuously from the airy ministers, and they communed fully together, entering into the experiences of one another, with complete and felicitous understanding.

Lonely for Man

Yet God was sore at heart. The Almighty, the Omnipotent, the Author of all things, seen and unseen, was lonely for man.

"I have formed him; yea, I have made him . . . precious in My sight. Yet My people have forgotten Me, days without number . . . They have turned aside and gone away."

They were but a single kind, in all His manifold creation. Countless other worlds and estates remained united with the blissful fold, adored and adoring, at one with the springs of existence, declaring its glory.

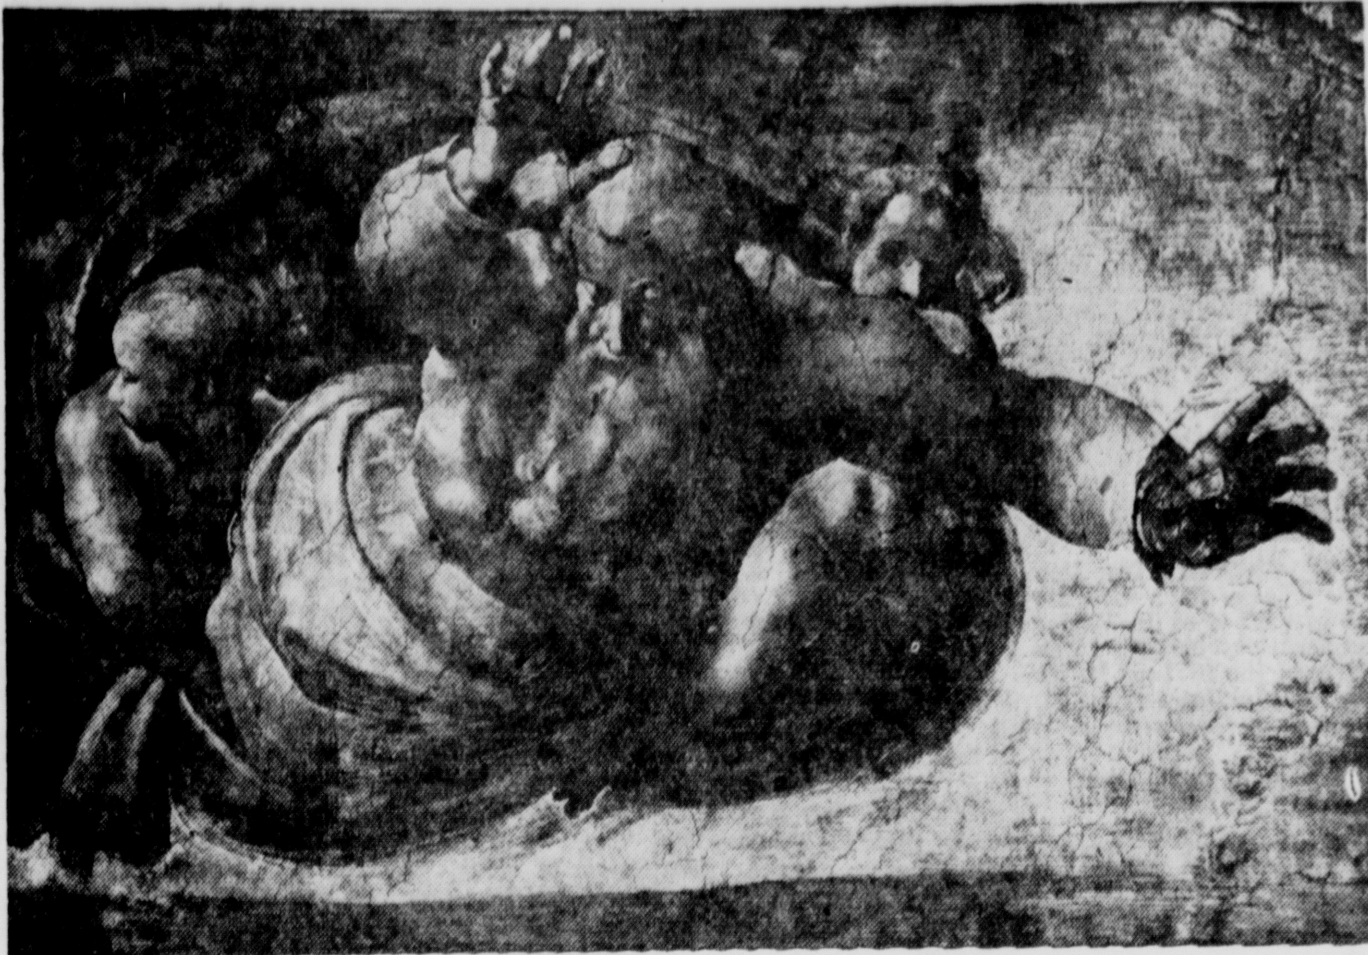

Files of cherubim and seraphim attended the divine establishment, and angelic legions served "His will in all places of His dominion," among all manners of souls. Others raised anthems of praise in that crystalline orb whose currents flowed with the essences of life complete.

"There is a river whose streams make glad the city of God, the holy habitation of the Most High."

Selfish Search

Yet man, newly brought into the vast and varied divine procession, had abandoned his native vision of it, striking out on his own in selfish isolation, seeking to make himself preeminent. And God, with all His happy progeny, grieved for His prodigal — humanity.

Spiritual freedom, that exhilarated again."

God was resolute . . . "My steadfast love shall not depart from them."

rating crown, had its hazards. Others, like man, had by their choice cut themselves off from their moorings, alone and never content, distraught by their strivings to dominate. And God was anguished.

"O foolish and senseless people, who have eyes, but see not, who have ears, but hear not . . . Every one turns to his own course, like a horse plunging headlong into battle."

Thus had an even higher clan, the proud, lofty Lucifer and his angel cohorts, sought to make themselves supreme, and been forever exiled, to roam the abyss of malice, deception and conflict.

But his revolt had been irrevocable, since no emotion or lack of knowledge clouded his decision. His state and that of the angel horde that followed him was utter hopelessness, since nothing remained for them to learn. In their gloomy interim, they thus set out to beguile artless creatures such as man.

Lucifer's Haunt

Man's world had become the chief haunt of the baleful Lucifer and his crew, the "rulers of darkness," often masquerading as "angels of light," or hiding their own existence, in order to deny supernatural governance.

After humanity fell into its benighted ways, God had been "sorry that He had made man on earth, and it grieved Him to His heart." And yet He knew how "very good" He considered the earth and its inhabitants at their origin.

God was resolute: "I have made them for My glory . . . I have purposed; I have not relented nor will I turn back . . . For the mountains may depart and the hills be removed, but My steadfast love shall not depart from them."

Throughout the cosmos, grave concern was focused on the earth. Its couplings with eternity appeared bent and broken, wrenching loose into oblivion.

"The earth staggers like a drunk man," a doleful observer noted. "It sways like a hut. Its transgressions lie heavily upon it, and it falls and will not rise again."

Another onlooker, of terse expression, added: "Its inhabitants are like grasshoppers."

Yet, among the pure, unspotted worlds that watched the tribulations of earth, there were some who yet saw hope for that confused and blustering globe, turning wanly in a lesser solar system.

"God . . . is from of old, working salvation in the midst of earth," a sunny saint maintained. "He did not create it a chaos. He formed it to be inhabited."

Restoration Doubtful

However, on the immutable scales of divine equity, it was hard to see how He could ever restore to His household a species that had willfully deserted it, that had become grossly unfit for it, and too densely self-centered to discern it, much less achieve it.

What seemed absurd to the holy one, was man's chronic blindness to his spiritual rudiments, to his mold in the divine image that equipped him to move toward that advanced mode of being.

Instead of recognizing this basic component in his makeup, instead of understanding that each level of existence is variously visible or invisible according to the station of the viewer, man saw only himself.

Across the circumference of the centuries and events, the celestial observers noticed the spiraling of vast conflicts on earth, wars and havoc, and the flaming burst of basic organic power in the midst of men.

"There, they are in great terror, in terror such as has not been," an indignant trumpeter proclaimed. "The nations rage, the kingdoms totter . . . Lo, the kings assembled, they came on together. They are in panic, Trembling takes hold of them there."

The doleful one stared sadly. The enemies are in tumult; those who hate God have raised their head. Every city takes to of a number of jet planes.

flight. They enter thickets; they climb among rocks. All the cities are forsaken."

The trumpeter went on, "Woe to you, destroyers. Woe to you who trust in chariots because they are many . . . Might will not save . . . Shudder, you complacent ones . . . The mountains melt like wax before the Lord."

But then, as they studied the scene, the physical disruption was interlarded and overlaid with a more penetrating element, clear, shining, unimpaired, continuing out of the past. Through the veiled links that bind and preserve the flow of time, the vibrant force on earth expanded and worked.

What was it? How had it entered that midnight vale?

"The salvation of God," the saint breathed.

"Truly," the terse one said, "no man can ransom himself."

Glowing Porcelain Enamel Shines for Safety, Beauty

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Skyscrapers that glow in the dark for beauty and freight cars and trucks that glow for safety are already a gleam in the eye of the porcelain enamel industry.

It also is pushing the possibilities of using electroluminescence at airports, as borders for taxi strips or as low-level lighting of runway borders.

You may already have electroluminescence in your home in the form of small glowing night lights plugged into an electrical outlet. The glow is created by sending a small amount of electricity through a porcelain enamel panel, thereby energizing the phosphors that have been fused into the glass-on-metal panel.

Through another of its qualities porcelain enamel is getting into the auto business as coating for mufflers and tailpipes. It resists the high heat, corrosion and rust that is estimated to take an annual toll of $500 million spent for replacements of these gadgets.

The same heat resistant quality makes for its use in special parts, for rockets and in heat-sealed components in the after-burners of their head. Every city takes to of a number of jet planes.

In architecture porcelain enamel is gaining in usage as colorful panel sheathing of buildings. If architects add luminescence to make their buildings glow at night, as the industry hopes, a new field will open up.

The old uses of the ancient material, however, are giving the industry increasing sales volume. The Porcelain Enamel Institute estimates a record $500 million business was done this year.

Cooking and heating equipment accounted for 29 per cent of the sales. Refrigerators and freezers took 14 per cent of all porcelain enamel sales, home laundry equipment and dishwashers 16 per cent, plumbingware 9 per cent and water heaters 7 per cent, the balance for assorted other uses.

All of these lines could see volume increases this year if home building picks up as administration experts predict.

But the industry's engineers are thinking beyond this into the newer fields opening up.

The safety factor of electroluminescence is being pushed as a sales point. One idea is to put a glowing stripe on the sides of railroad freight cars to make them more easily seen at grade crossings at night. Similar stripes

Diplomat Is Put To Work Digging In Lime Quarry

VELBERT, Germany (AP)—Language difficulties recently put a high ranking African diplomat to work in a local lime quarry.

Quarry officials said the immaculately dressed diplomat came from the West German capital at Bonn to discuss quarrying possibilities in his homeland. When he arrived, he misread a sign in German and entered the labor office instead of the directors' bureau.

A husky foreman plopped a protective steel helmet on his head, told him to grab a pick and led him into the dust-filled pits where African apprentices—imported to relieve a labor shortage—were learning the skills of the trade.

Two hours later, the directors got a call from the pits. One of the apprentices refused to work any longer, insisting he was here to discuss the business, not to learn it.

They retrieved the visitor, brushed him off and then talked about African time.

The company declined to identify the diplomat or his country. Officials said he shrugged off the incident with a laugh.

Parakeet Cries For Help When Mouse Attacks

ADA, Kan. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Charley Wormser were awakened the other night by shrieks from their parakeet, Perky, in the living room.

"Charley, come here," Perky was screaming.

Wormser said he jumped out of bed and found a mouse chasing Perky around in the birdcage, yanking feathers from the parakeet's tail.

The mouse skedaddled. But the next night the Wormsers put five traps around Perky's cage and caught the varmint.

Jury Is Picked As Trial Opens For Holdup Man

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—A 12-man jury was selected Monday as the trial of Vincent P. Inzerillo, 36, Kansas City, for the $18,770 holdup April 14 of an East Wichita Supermarket got under way.

Dist. Judge E. E. Sattgast recessed the case overnight after instructing members of the jury against being influenced by trial publicity.

Earlier Monday, Judge Sattgast overruled a defense motion that Inzerillo be discharged on grounds he did not have a proper preliminary hearing. Another defense motion to suppress evidence based on search of an east side apartment without a search warrant was partly sustained by the judge.

The judge ruled out testimony in reference to fingerprints found on beer cans, soft drink bottles and grocery cartons in the apartment. Two other Kansas Citians arrested with Inzerillo — Arthur E. Shepherd, 34, and William P. Denney, 35, were freed in a habeas corpus action.

Ranks of Undefeated Cage Teams Dwindle In Losses

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

The ranks of collegiate basketball's unbeaten teams dwindled today as three of the nation's top five teams tasted defeat for the first time and several other powers had their untarnished records spoiled.

Cincinnati, ranked second in the weekly Associated Press poll, lost to Wichita 52-51 Monday night to set the tempo for a night of form reversals.

Providence, No. 3 nationally, fell to unbeaten DePaul 68-63 and fifth-ranked West Virginia was spilled by Duke 69-65.

Arizona State, tied for 10th in the ratings, dropped its first game in six starts, to Indiana 94-88. Temple suffered its first setback, to Kentucky 78-55, after winning five.

Two of the top ten teams stayed undefeated. First-ranked Ohio State whipped St. Louis 61-48 for its sixth straight and Kansas State, No. 4, breezed to its sixth in a row, 59-43, over Arizona.

New York University (6-0) beat Notre Dame 81-73. Utah State (7-0) rolled over San Francisco

State and Illinois (5-0) upended Xavier of Ohio 81-69.

Lanny Van Eman's 15-foot jump shot with three seconds remaining gave Wichita its one-point squeaker over Cincinnati and snapped the defending NCAA champion Bearcats' 27-game winning streak—longest among major colleges. The victory was the Shockers' seventh in eight starts. The loss gave Cincinnati a 5-1 record.

Van Eman sank seven field goals in the last eight minutes. The 5-11 senior shared scoring honors with Cincinnati's big Paul Hogue, each with 19 points.

Providence, the National Invitation Tournament winner last March, lost for the first time in six outings as DePaul boosted its record to 6-0. Dick Cook and M. C. Thompson sparked the Demons to their 19th consecutive home court victory.

Duke, in extending its record to 7-1, handed West Virginia its first defeat after six triumphs. The Iron Dukes, with all of their starters playing the entire game, routed West Virginia on the Mountaineers' floor. Jeff Mullins and Art Heyman led the Duke attack with 25 and 20 points.

Ohio State experienced little difficulty with St. Louis in enhancing its No. 1 rating. All-America Jerry Lucas paved the way with 20 points and John Havlicek contributed 17 as the Buckeyes bolted to a 32-19 half-time bulge.

Elsewhere on the basketball beat: Billy McGill clicked for 27 points as Utah downed California 64-58. Oklahoma State drubbed Tulsa 81-57. SMU spanked Alabama 71-66. Mississippi outlasted

Bull-lifting Turner Faces Tough Chore

NEW YORK (AP) — Clyde (Bulldog) Turner, a 280-pounder who used to lift bulls for photographers and laughs, today had another heavy hoisting job for his broad shoulders.

The former all-pro center of the Chicago Bears will spend next season trying to lift the New York Titans into a contending position in the American Football League.

Sammy Baugh, another former National Football League great, couldn't do it and Monday after weeks of open feuding with Titan owner Harry Wismer and his second straight 7-7 season, Baugh was dropped to a "consultant" and Turner was named to succeed him as head coach.

"Everybody's happy," claimed Wismer, who said Turner would be paid $20,000 a year under a two-year contract, the same amount Baugh was drawing as head coach.

The out-spoken Titan boss then took another verbal punch at Baugh, who last week said he hoped he'd be fired but wouldn't quit, obviously because he wanted to be paid the $20,000 due him under his three-year contract.

"Turner was my first choice for head coach when I organized this club," Wismer said. "My second choice was Otto Graham, my third was Frank Leahy and my fourth choice was Sammy Baugh."

Baugh wasn't available for comment but last week, when Wismer threatened to demote him, Sammy said: "That's wonderful. I'd like to be an assistant at these prices."

Turner, now 42, played 13 seasons with the Bears and eight times was named all-pro center. After his retirement in 1953, he was an assistant under George Halas of the Bears until 1958. Since then he has been out of football, managing his ranch at Gatesville, Tex. He played his college football at Hardin Simmons in Texas, where Baugh coached before joining the Titans.

Turner said he would retain two assistants—Hugh (Bones) Taylor and John Del Isola — and would scan the films of the Titan games thoroughly before considering what changes would be made.

Louisiana Tech 68-64; Oregon State tripped Stanford 55-49; Iowa State beat Drake 59-30; Iowa State beat Drake 59-30; Michigan State downed South Carolina 99-91; Maryland romped over Virginia 91-70; Bradley bested Minnesota 90-47 and Air Force shaded Brigham Young 68-66.

Dick Donovan Wins Earned Run Average

BOSTON AP) — Veteran Dick Donovan became the first Washington pitcher in 33 years to win the American League earned run title in 1961 when he finished with a 2.40 average.

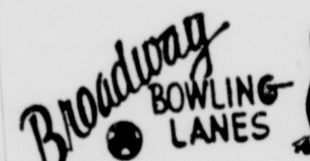

It will likely be the last time Donovan wins anything for the Senators. Four days after the close of the campaign, he moved to Cleveland in a five-player trade.

Donovan's championship received the official stamp of approval today with the release of the final pitching statistics by the American League Service Bureau.

The 34-year-old right-hander allowed only 45 earned runs in 169 innings while compiling a 10-10 record. He is the first Senator to take the ERA crown since Garland Braxton in 1928.

Bill Stafford of New York was the runner-up in the earned run competition with a 2.68 average. He was followed by Don Mossi, Detroit, 2.96; Milt Pappas, Baltimore 3.03; Juan Pizarro, Chicago 3.05 and Ralph Terry, New York 3.16.

Although the Yankees' Whitey Ford finished 10th in ERA with 3.21, the cagy southpaw, who won the Cy Young award as the majors' outstanding pitcher, had the most victories, 25, and the highest winning percentage. He also pitched the most innings, 283, started the most games, 39.

Club Will Vote On Inspection For Car Safety

Sedalia's Drag-On's car club will vote next week on an all-Sedalia safety inspection, conducted by the club, free of charge. The plan was under discussion at the club's regular meeting Monday night, and will be voted on next Monday.

Club members received 11 courtesy cards for assisting Sedalias having difficulty due to weather recently.

The club, a chartered member of the National Hot Rod Association, is open to "any safe driver that has attained the age of 18 and is interested in joining the club," according to Larry Direk, the club's reporter. The Drag-On's is the only chartered club of its kind east of Kansas City.

Telling Statistics

Tough and Talented New Gremlin Squad

The Sacred Heart Gremlins, after playing 15 official games, have come up with a formidable set of statistics, indicating they are in the thick of the PBCAA conference action, and definitely a team to watch.

Up to today, when they go against the Smithton Tigers in a conference contest at Smithton, the Gremlins have scored a total of 861 points to their opponents' 729. Their offensive average is 57.4 points per game, and defensively they stand at 48.4 points per game.

Of the 15 games played, the Gremlins have walked off with 10 victories.

Breaking it down to individual players, Jim Friedebach, a senior, appears to be the man to watch. Friedebach, who hasn't missed a game yet, connected for 44 per cent of his field goal attempts and 63 per cent of his free throw attempts. He has 55 rebounds to his credit, and has stolen the ball 28 times, and has scored a total of 114 points. He carries an average of 9.5 points per game against the Tigers tonight, which is below Friedebach, who boasts a 16.2.

Leonard Butler, another Gremlin stalwart, after spending 411 minutes on the floor, has a 13.5 point game average, and 201 total points to his credit. He made good on 45 per cent of his free throw tries, and went for 36 per cent of his field goal attempts. His rebound average is the same as "Big John's" at 11.0.

Gary Crnic is another Gremlin who's coming up fast. He has 110 points to his credit after playing in 14 games. He has 73 rebounds to his credit, averaging 4.9 a game. He has made an average of 7.3 points per game.

For the team as a whole, the Gremlins have connected for 35 per cent of their field goal attempts, and 52 per cent of their charity toss tries. They have collected 535 rebounds and have stolen the ball 149 times.

With a good part of the season remaining to be played, the Gremlins are a team to contend with this year, showing aggressiveness and talent on the court. After tonight's action, they will not play again until Jan. 5, a conference game at Cole Camp.

Red Grip on Cuba Becoming Tighter

EDITOR'S NOTE—The writer of this dispatch has just come out of Cuba after six months as The Associated Press correspondent in that Caribbean nation. This is his penetrating analysis of the temper of the people in Cuba and an insight into little known behind-the-scenes Communists who play an important role in the Castro revolution.

By JOSE MARIA ORLANDO

In the hectic first days of Fidel Castro's regime Cuba was described by a French writer as a circus with a bearded prime minister as ring master.

Today the Caribbean island once known as the "Pearl of the Antilles" is far from being a circus but is becoming the first nation in the Western hemisphere to fall under the iron grip of international communism.

Castro seems to be slowly losing his position as ring master. What Castro says still goes, since the Communist clique acting behind him needs his popularity to stay on top. But the Reds have taken over control of government planning and are turning the former easy living in Cuba into a tightly organized Communist state.

Although there is some armed rebel activity the Castro regime's well organized political-military machine makes improbable any internal uprising on a large scale at the present time.

Anyone known to be out of sympathy with the government is either jailed or watched. The underground movement, smashed after April's abortive invasion, has not been able to reorganize itself, partly because of the differences among counterrevolutionary groups fighting one another for leadership.

Castro himself is a paradox. Either sincerely persuaded or forced because he has no other way to turn for help, he is going along with the Communist clique to the extent of proclaiming himself "a Marxist-Leninist to the day I die."

However, there are observers close to the Cuban prime minister who say he is not an indoctrinated Communist but a man dragged toward Moscow as the only source of support in his bitter feud with the United States.

These observers claim that Castro is incapable of adhering to the rigid discipline demanded of a member of the Communist party and "can never be a real Communist." One Western diplomat in Havana told me: "Castro is a typical individualist leader who believes only in himself."

Castro used the Communists as a source of support in the first days after his two-year guerrilla revolution in the Sierra Maestra overthrew the Batista dictatorship Jan. 1, 1959.

As the break with the United States widened, he leaned more to the Communists until today they control all fields of urban life—political, economic and social.

Sometimes the Communist leaders bow before Castro—more often he goes along with them.

Heading the Red clique are Fabio Grobart and Blas Roca. Both are Moscow-trained and toe the Kremlin line.

Grobart, in his 60s, is a mysterious East European who has been a Soviet agent in the Caribbean for 20 years. He is believed to be a Polish Jew whose real name is Abraham Zinowich.

Blas Roca is reported to be his handpicked head of the Cuban Communist party—an appointment made years ago.

Roca, whose real name is Francisco Caldero, has operated in the open since Castro seized power. Grobart remained in the background until four months ago when his name appeared as a director of "Cuba Socialist," a new monthly magazine of Marxist-Leninist philosophy.

Grobart is credited with creating the "School for Instructors of Art"—a huge program under which thousands of Cuban youngsters are taught communism. These schools have been set up in the luxurious homes of wealthy Cubans who fled after Castro's takeover.

A Western diplomat living next door to one of these schools in a Havana suburb said he overheard a lecture to a geography class.

"Cuba is an island lying 90 miles southeast of the United States. Cuba is a Socialist country. The United States is a capitalist country. As long as the United States remains a capitalist country there can be no peace for Cuba," the instructor said.

Grobart and Roca operate through the "Integrated Revolutionary Organizations" known as ORI, slated to become the lone and all-powerful political party in Cuba.

Ernesto Guevara, Argentine-born economic czar considered by many as the ablest figure in the Castro government, is a member of ORI. But there are growing doubts about Guevara's political influence.

Castro still retains the support of a large part of the Cuban people even though his popularity is not as high as when he first took over.

Food is scarce and there are other shortages in such key items as clothes, bathing soap, toothpaste, razor blades, brassieres.

Castro's support comes largely from the interior where peasants—particularly 200,000 distributed in 600 collective farms—live under better conditions than they ever did before.

But Cuba is an armed camp with 300,000 men and women out of a six million population in the militia or regular army.

Cuban government leaders have admitted they still need to attract the younger generation to the Marxist-Leninist line of thought to close the gap between themselves and the masses.

"The revolution is going ahead so fast that many people are left behind," Castro himself once said. The big question mark in the all-out transformation of a Cuba known for gambling, drinking and dancing into a drab Communist state is the Cuban people themselves.

There are many who believe that the traditionally gay and hot-blooded Cubans will never accept the rigid discipline and austere life of a Communist country.

Final Election Date Scheduled On Special Levy

PINEVILLE, Mo. (AP) — After changing the date twice, McDonald County officials have set Dec. 28 as the "final, absolute and official date" for a special election on a 15-cent tax levy.

The date first was Dec. 2 after 275 signatures were obtained on petitions. Then it was announced that there was a mix-up and the election would be Dec. 6.

Then officials decided that 650 signatures were needed. Arvel Long, presiding judge of the county court, said supporters of the levy went out again and brought back 800 names. So Dec. 28 is the day.

About 7,000 persons are qualified to vote on the issue.

Garden Club Three Entertained At H.C. Sammons Home

Garden Club No. 3, was entertained Friday, Dec. 15, by Mrs. H. C. Sammons at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mrs. B. R. Sammons, Route 1, with Mrs. C. L. Carter as assisting hostess.

The meeting was opened with Mrs. Sammons reading two poems, "What Christmas Is" by Hazel N. Lang, and "The Gardener's Visit From St. Nicholas."

Mrs. J. J. Chipman gave the program, "Christmas All Through the House."

"The most and the best of everything is Christmas," Mrs. Chipman said, "every room decorated with green and glitter, the largest log on the fire. Christmas is a memory of wonderful sweet fragrance, warmth of friends, coming, laughter. People should take time for lovely little things at Christmas."

The home was beautiful decorated throughout with Christmas arrangements and a huge Christmas tree was a gorgeous sight in its setting with the entire background of glass from the large picture window with prettily wrapped packages beneath it which were the gifts for the gift exchange among the members.

Holds December Meet

The Hopewell Homemakers met Thursday at the home of Mrs. B. B. Ramey. There were seven members present.

The devotion was given by Mrs. B. B. Ramey. The International lesson was "Christmas in Many Lands," given by all members.

Secret pal gifts were exchanged and names drawn for the new year.

The next meeting will be Jan. 11 at the home of Mrs. H. H. Nutt.

Negroes Plan Mass March On Registrar

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Negroes protesting alleged vote discrimination planned a mass march on the registrar's office tonight in the wake of the arrest of nearly 300 sympathy demonstrators.

The Consumers League of Greater New Orleans, a Negro group, appealed to President Kennedy for protection.

Police Supt. Joseph I. Giarrusso said his department "positively will not stand for any demonstrations by marching groups."

Police speedily broke up a march Monday by Negro youths. They said they were protesting the arrest of 73 Negroes last week in Baton Rouge, where officers used tear gas to break up anti-segregation demonstrations.

The arrests in New Orleans included 200 Negroes and two white youths. Many of the Negroes were students at Dillard University and the New Orleans branch of Southern University.

The Rev. Avery Alexander, president of the Consumers League, wired President Kennedy that the students "were run down and hunted by dogs like animals and arrested while walking peacefully to a local state office building to protest the tear gassing and inhuman treatment of students at Southern University in Baton Rouge."

Police said they did not use their trained dogs to break up the demonstration. The arrests were made under a city statute passed last year to ward off imminent racial demonstrations. It requires a permit well in advance of scheduled marches, including the Mardi Gras parades.

The marchers were orderly and offered no resistance as police started hauling them to jail in patrol wagons. They were scheduled for arraignment in Municipal Court at 4 p.m. today.

Alexander said the consumers league would sponsor a march on the registration office at 6 p.m. to "protest the utter disregard by the registrar of voters, Mr. Tim Gallighouse, of the rights of Negroes to register and vote as other citizens."

Satire Takes Aim at Shows In Limelight

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Whenever a variety show needs a subject to satirize in a sketch, the first place the writers look for subject matter, it appears, is at television itself, and usually at TV commercials.

This season, there is the usual amount of kidding the commercials, but there has been a sharp diminution of sketches drawing a head on the Wild West-gun programs, popular in other years. The popular item this season is the spoof of the new, well-received doctor show.

It is with good reason that satirical sketches follow beaten paths. It isn't that there aren't plenty of fertile areas around for such treatment. It is that the mass audience wouldn't understand what it was all about if the subject has had little TV exposure.

An excellent case in point was Bob Hope's sketch last week, a spoof of a new hit movie called "The Hustlers."

All the hi-jinks took place in a pool hall. Bob Hope was padded around the midriff and sported a curly wig. It may have been hilarious for the comparative handful of viewers who had seen the movie and knew that Bob was caricaturing Jackie Gleason, one of the stars. But for the millions who haven't yet caught "The Hustlers," the sketch was not only meaningless but extremely unfunny.

Sid Caesar once had a favorite TV sketch in which he kidded Japanese art movies. This was all very hilarious for people who had seen a Japanese art movie—a tiny, tiny percentage of Sid's audience. Other viewers just figured Sid had been given some poor comedy material.

Fourth Graders Thankful For Strange Things

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A fourth grade teacher made a pre-Christmas class assignment of compositions on "gifts we already have and should be thankful for."

Some comments in the compositions: "We have love. If we didn't have love we would all be bums and I wouldn't want to beg anybody for anything."

"We have nice cars to drive and eat hamburgers in."

"We have nice teachers to turn (sic) us to read and write and spell."

"We have birdies to sing, dogs to pet, and cats to make static electricity."

Taxicab Fee Amounts To $337.50 on Trip

NEW YORK (AP)—Three Californians got out of a taxicab at Pier 84 here Monday—and paid a fare of $337.50. They had hired it Sunday night in Indianapolis, 14 hours and 730 miles from the pier.

The trio—Lloyd Pepper and Hazel Feron of Aptos and Anita Demos of Santa Cruz—had booked passage for a 38-day Mediterranean cruise. The commercial airline bringing them here was forced to land because of bad weather, so they hired the cab.

"It was the only way we could get here in time for the sailing," said one of the three.

Albanians to Talk Aid With Red China

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—A two-man Albanian economic delegation left for Peking Monday to negotiate terms in which Red China would give economic assistance to Albania, reports reaching Belgrade said.

Some Face Christmas With Little

By HAZEL LANG

"Verily I say unto you, inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me." Matthew 25:40.

Here at the Christmas season there will be many humble homes without food, the extra food that Christmas always means, and many empty stockings, because the people of Pettis County have not responded to the call from the Welfare Office this year to help them bring the joy of Christmas to those who are trying to live on the little assistance checks that are being sent to them each month by the state.

Too, the unemployed appeal to the Welfare Office, many who do not have an income of any kind at this time of year, and yet they have children believing in Santa Claus.

There are not a third as many checks, nor a third as many toys, this year as last year or in other years, and the requests for families to adopt are not nearly as great.

Mrs. Roseanne Dugan Johns, director, and Mrs. Madge Colbert, in charge of the Christmas plans, are in a quandary as to what to do. If the community does not help, and every cent of money and every toy and every piece of clothing, now available, goes to those who need it here, the Welfare office cannot see that those who are looking forward to Christmas will have any. There will be disappointment in the faces of children and sadness in the hearts of parents who must watch them.

The Welfare office does not receive any money at all, so the only way they can provide Christmas for those who expect it from them is by the gifts from those who stop to remember that there are those who do not have these articles. The time spent in serving as clearing house for Christmas distribution and family adoptions is given free by the Welfare office employees that Christmas may have its true meaning.

It is time to include on the Christmas list a gift given in the name of the one whose birth the Christmas season celebrates.

Christmas Party Held By Sorority

Beta Tau Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, met Thursday, Dec. 14, for a Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Norma Perrin.

Following a short business meeting Mrs. Ann Marquess gave the program on "Art," discussing several pictures related to Christmas. After the program the group sang Christmas carols.

The meeting then adjourned for a social hour at which time refreshments were served buffet style from a table attractively decorated in the Christmas theme.

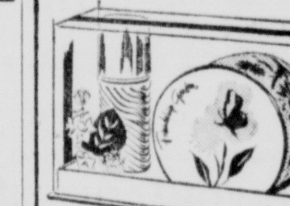

An exchange of secret pal gifts followed.

Seventeen members, sponsor and director were present.

Mrs. Perrin was assisted by her co-hostess, Mrs. Nancy Ivens.

Coggins said Hulda will visit her parents for about two weeks before returning to the Soviet Union.

Third of Cancer Patients Have Health Restored
NEW YORK (AP) — The Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center says 33 per cent of all cancer patients are being cured today and it's possible that percentage soon may be increased.
Increased research, new surgical techniques, improved radiation control and development of chemical treatments were cited as important advances in the war on the disease.
"How far medical science has moved toward the complete control of cancer can only be estimated," Dr. Henry T. Randall, medical director of Memorial Hospital, said Monday.
1960 Birth Decline; Rise Seen This Year
WASHINGTON — (AP) — There was a decline in births in 1960 but the Public Health Service thinks there may be a record number of babies born this year.
In 1960, there were 4,257,850 births registered, about 4,000 fewer than in 1959, said the service.

File Kidnaping Charge Against Babysitter, 32

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A charge of kidnaping was filed Monday against Mrs. Cynthia Lucille Chaney, 32, who is accused of abducting 3-year-old Susan Kay Nesbitt while babysitting with the child Nov. 6.

Mrs. Chaney was arrested in St. Louis. Susan Kay is hospitalized there, critically ill. Mrs. Chaney was jailed in default of $2,500 bond set by Magistrate Bernard W. Gnefkow. A preliminary hearing was set Dec. 27.

The child's mother, Mrs. Virginia Nesbitt, said Mrs. Chaney had cared for her daughter often. Officers said Mrs. Chaney told them she took Susan Kay because she loved her like her own.

Three Charges Filed In Pedestrian Death

Why pay higher prices for F-85 when you'll find 1" extra front and rear hiproom and extra legroom both front and rear in the Lark — plus easy, big-door entry with no step-down well, 22% more top horsepower available, too, and much more braking area. Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: What do you think of a woman who is such a perfectionist that she gift wraps fish?

I had a marvelous catch this morning and my wife decided to split the catch with her sister. When I handed her some newspaper in which to wrap the fish she said "No, I'd prefer to use this." Then she pulled out some silver wrapping paper on which was printed "Many happy returns of the day." She tied the fish securely with some satin ribbon and made a fancy bow. It looked like a gift from Tiffany's.

I always thought she had a few bolts loose and I think this proves it. Do you agree? — D. J.

Dear D. J.: Not necessarily. Maybe she did it just for the halibut.

Dear Ann Landers: Two years ago when my sister was 16 she got into trouble and had to go to a home for unwed mothers. My dad took off while all this was going on so Mom turned to her brother for support and advice.

Uncle Wallace is strict and hard-headed. He never married and I'm sure he really hates kids. He has ordered my sister and me not to have anything to do with boys. I am 16 now and my sister is 18. We can't go any place but to school and to church. If we want to see a movie Saturday afternoon my Mom or Uncle Wallace must accompany us.

We can't invite fellows to the house and no boy can call on the phone. We feel like prisoners. If things don't let up soon we are taking off. Can you help us? — B AND D

Dear B. and D.: Your sister's unhappy experience left your mother with no confidence in her own judgment. She turned to your uncle who unfortunately knows nothing about the social or emotional needs of teenagers.

Caring girls and shadowing them will not insure good behavior. It only makes them wilder when they finally get loose.

You need an enlightened adult to speak in your behalf. Ask your mother to phone for an appointment with your favorite teacher or the guidance counselor at school. And hurry.

Dear Ann Landers: We had our fourth child in October. I sent out 53 birth announcements to relatives, friends and neighbors. The mailing was done on October 16th. Of the 53 people who were sent cards, 34 have received a gift of one sort or another from me in the past six years. (I keep track.) So far I have received three cards and one gift.

I told my husband last night that I've just about lost my faith in humanity. I respond to every announcement as soon as I receive it. He says I'm overly conscientious and that it doesn't pay.

After my recent experience, I think he's right. Do you? — HURT

Dear Hurt: If a disappointing return on your mailing can shatter your faith in humanity, you didn't have much faith to begin with. Since you seem to be statistic-minded, it might interest you to know that direct mail experts kick their heels in the air if they get a 2 per cent response to a mailing.

Confidential to WHISTLESTOP: You have not had twenty years experience, Mister. You've had one year's experience 20 times. When are you going to get smarter instead of just older?

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Spirit of Santa Still Believed In By Virginia

OLEAN, N.Y. (AP)—"Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus." The "Virginia" of that memorable Christmas letter is Laura Virginia Douglas, now 72 and a retired New York educator. She says she still believes in the spirit of Santa Claus.

"I believe what the Santa Claus spirit stands for—love and sharing. The joy of giving and the extension of it to all people," she told an interviewer.

On Dec. 21, 1897, the old New York Sun made its now-famous reply to a letter written by Virginia.

"Some of my little friends say there is no Santa Claus. Papa says, 'If you see it in the Sun, it's so.' Please tell me the truth. Is there a Santa Claus?"

Harry Suggests Cash Donation To Food Project

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP)—A Christmas gift in cash to the United States Freedom From Hunger Foundation is suggested by former President Harry S. Truman.

Truman has accepted appointment as honorary chairman of the foundation by President Kennedy.

"America's Food for Peace program has done a great deal to help eliminate hunger," he said Monday, "but much more needs to be done. I hope all those who are able to give . . . will send an amount in cash to the foundation in Washington, an amount equivalent to one Christmas gift."

KU Gets Approval On Peace Corps Project

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—The University of Kansas has received conditional approval in Washington for a Peace Corps project in Costa Rica, a spokesman said Monday.

Prof. John P. Augelli, chairman of Latin American area studies, said the next step is to obtain approval by the Costa Rican government, expected in February.

The plan calls for KU to serve as a training center for 25 to 30 persons who then will spend two years in Costa Rica under the Peace Corps program.

Ike and Mamie Take Grandchild On Trip

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, his wife Mamie and their perky 6-year-old granddaughter, Mary Jean, headed for the West Coast early today for an extended vacation.

The happy trio departed by train from Harrisburg shortly after 2 a.m., bound for Palm Springs Calif.

TOAD HALL—Inspired by the ancestral home of Mr. Toad in the children's classic, "The Wind in the Willows," Ralph Way built his own version of Toad Hall. The 65-year-old widower chose a huge cedar hollowed out by fire and constructed his mountain tree house near Snoqualmie, Wash.

Office Christmas Parties History In Year of 1961

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — It was Christmas afternoon in the year 1991.

Johnny and Sue were playing on the floor near their grandpa, who dozed on a sofa. Grandpa sat knitting in a nearby rocking chair.

"Wake up, Grandpa," said Johnny, shaking him, "and tell us a story."

"Yes," cried Sue. "Tell us a story about how Christmas was like long ago in the good old days."

Grandpa sat up and knuckled the sleep from his eyes.

"Well," he began, "once upon a time I went to my last office Christmas party, and—"

"But Christmas parties are held in houses, Grandpa," objected Sue. "They aren't held in offices."

"They used to be," interposed Grandpa, adding sternly, "—by the riffraff."

Grandpa grinned.

"As I was saying, once upon a time I went to my last office Christmas party. The boss came out of his private office about 3:30 p.m. with a bottle of soda pop in his hand, and said, 'Okay, boys, let's get the show on the road.'"

"Well, it was payday and all of us fellows had bought some soda pop, too."

"Was it grape or cherry?" interrupted Sue.

"I forget," said Grandpa. "But we poured the bottles into the water cooler, and—my, it sure tasted good!"

"We sent down to the delicatessen and got a dozen platters of sandwiches, and hung some of them from the office Christmas tree. Then a three-piece band showed up—that was arranged as a surprise by the boss."

"So we pushed the desks away, cleared a space and began to dance with the stenographers. It was a new dance they called 'the twist.'" train from Harrisburg shortly after 2 a.m., bound for Palm Springs Calif.

An aide said: "He'll stay until he decides to come home. Last year he stayed until March."

For Own, Other Children

Cramer, Schrader Yuletide Party Held On Saturday

They came in little groups, most of them with their mothers, and sat wide-eyed and expectant or a little bewildered around the big room in the Cramer and Schrader building which had been decorated in the Christmas theme.

It was Saturday, Dec. 16, and the annual Christmas party given by Walter Cramer and Carl Schrader for their own and other children.

Of course Cramer's one and only child is married but she was there with her two little boys Chip and Mark Thompson, and side by side primly sat Schrader's two little girls, Barbara and Katie.

The children of the Indian family who have created much interest since they came to Sedalia where their father had hoped to find work in connection with the missile program, were there, too, all spic and span and wondering. Some of them couldn't come because of illness but the older sister was there with the little ones.

There were tiny babies who certainly didn't know what it was all about, but didn't seem to mind being handed from one person to another, there was the smiling little girl in the bright blue dress who was showing off how she could take steps, that is, if somebody held on to her hand, and there were older children, too, but all were as quiet as could be.

About 1 p.m. the door at the rear opened and in came Santa Claus. His voice was deep and he was given a chair in the center of the room where the children lined up to talk to him. His beard was white and curly, his nose and cheeks were very red and he looked straight at each child as he listened intently at what they had to tell him.

In the window was a big white reindeer, there was a big Christmas tree, a sugar plum tree, and a fireplace from which hung long red net stockings filled with goodies, lots of hard candy, an orange, chewing gum, various candies and a big candy cane. Then came time for Santa to give out the stockings which he did as someone stood near to take them down from the fire place and hand them to him.

The children were delighted and Cramer had only one regret, the large family of children that lived on the Cramer-Schrader farm couldn't be there this year—all of them were sick.

The children who were there this year were: Barbara and Beverly Simmons, Chuckie and Dickie Wasson, Chip and Mark Thompson, Rita Roberts, Dannie Moore, Sherry and Jeffrey Moore, Bret Williams, Pamela Vaughn, Jennie Jett, Teresa and Paula Dowdy, Barbara and Katie Schrader, Larry, Jerry, Snookie, Diana, Jackie, Gloria and Nicky Leo, Darrell Ford, Bobby and Terry Lee Mulineaux, Cindy, Andy and Bill Thompson, Teresa, Ricky and David Thompson.

The Christmas party idea was started eight years ago and there were only five youngsters at the first party, but each year the party grows.

As Santa sat in the seat of honor a small boy in a little jacket as red as Santa's suit, stood close by and watched. There was the delight of Christmas and the thrill of Santa shining in his little face as he smiled and now and then blinked his eyes. Another very small boy took the big stocking handed to him by Santa and went a few steps. Whatever that thing was the old man with the whiskers had handed him was plenty heavy and he wasn't about to lug it around the rest of the afternoon, if they were going to stay there the rest of the afternoon. He got a better hold on it, turned around and took it right back to Santa.

And so, Cramer and Schrader had another happy Christmas party, and the kids gaily yelled "Good bye, Santa" as Santa, who was really Bob Volger of the Police Department, disappeared out the back door with a cheery "Merry Christmas to you all."

Merchants Face Violations Of State Blue Laws

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP)—Two downtown Joplin merchants answer today to alleged violations of Missouri's Blue Laws banning Sunday sales of "non-essential" articles.

Complaints against Ropke Stores, Inc., and the Maytag & TV Center were brought by two Joplin men, Floyd A. Spaulding and Dick Dickerson. They said they are opposed to Sunday sales on religious grounds.

Misdemeanor information was filed in Magistrate Court by County Atty. Stewart E. Tatum against Ropke for the alleged sale of $10.95 table model radio, and against Maytag & TV Center for the alleged sale of an indoor TV aerial.

Spaulding and Dickerson said the items were sold to them Sunday.

Bomb, Jail Put Hitch In Plans For Fund Rally

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A Freedom Fund rally was delayed for an hour Monday night when a woman called City Hall and said a bomb was due to go off under Zion Baptist church. Police searched the building and found no bomb.

The Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., a Negro integrationist leader, was scheduled to address the rally, but did not appear due to delay of being released from jail at Albany, Ga.

King was one of several hundred Negroes arrested there last weekend during demonstrations. His father, a Baptist minister from Atlanta, spoke in his place.

$84,921 Cattle Manipulation Is Charged to Pair

SIoux CITY, Iowa (AP)—Neal E. Thompson, 31, and John P. Malloy, 33, both of Sioux City, have been accused of an $84,921 cattle manipulation at the Swift & Co. livestock pens.

U.S. Dist. Atty. Donald E. O'Brien said Monday the men have been charged by both state and federal governments.

A Woodbury county attorney's information accuses Malloy of larceny and Thompson of conspiracy to commit larceny.

O'Brien brought a federal civil complaint that asked for judgment of $6,200 against the two men, who did business as Excel Feed Lot.

The government charges the men violated the Federal Packers and Stockyards Act in they allegedly operated without proper registration.

O'Brien said the loser was Swift & Co., which employed Thompson as a driver.

The government's complaint showed sales of about 1,650 head of cattle by Excel Feed between Aug. 16, 1958 and Sept. 28, 1961.

O'Brien said the Excel Feed was a dummy corporation which had an office but no feed lot. He said the operation was for the firm to buy a number of head of stocker feed (skinny or thin) cattle on Monday, exchange them for fat cattle in the Swift & Co. pens the next day, then sell the fat cattle at a sizable profit.

Rice Students Put Okay On Integration

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Rice University students have voted almost 240-1 in favor of integrating the privately endowed, all-white school.

In an election sponsored by the Student Assembly Monday, the vote was 894 for and 476 against a resolution stating that "no restrictions based solely on race should be exercised in admission policy or in use of facilities."

Rice's charter limits the student body to whites. The school has about 2,000 students.
